DePaul is the largest Catholic university and the 12th largest private, not-for-profit institution of higher learning in the country. The university enrolls about 24,400 students in 10 colleges and schools and offers a wide range of academic and professional programs on five Chicagoarea campuses. DePaul's reach extends internationally, from degree programs offered in Kenya to study-abroad opportunities around the globe. DePaul is the hub of an innovative and diverse community that enables students, faculty, staff, alumni and friends to advance personally, professionally and intellectually.

The Congregation of the Mission, or the Vincentian Fathers, founded DePaul in 1898. A Roman Catholic religious community, the Vincentians follow the vision and values of the 17th-century French priest St. Vincent de Paul. The university's mission emphasizes academic excellence, community service, access to education and respect for the individual. DePaul's strategic plan, "Vision 2018: Dedication to Excellence, Commitment to Community," has focused the university on six key goals. A series of strategic alliances is among its first-year accomplishments. They include partnerships with Rosalind Franklin University of Medicine and Science, Cinespace Chicago Film Studios, Rush University Medical Center, Chicago Theological Union and the Chicago History Museum.

DePaul's colleges and schools have distinguished reputations for academic quality and dedication to fostering student success. The College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences encompasses more than 45 undergraduate and graduate degree programs. It also supports academic centers, such as the Humanities Center, the Center for Latino Research, the Social Science Research Center, the Center for Black Diaspora and the Center for World Catholicism and Intercultural Theology.

DePaul established its newest college, Science and Health, in the 2011–12 academic year. The college departments include the natural sciences, health science, mathematics, nursing and psychology, as well as five centers, including the Center for Community Research and the DePaul Family and Community Services. Students pursue programs that take advantage of opportunities in science and health care fields.

The College of Law is distinguished by its successful centers, which emphasize collaborative learning among students and faculty in advancing the law and serving justice. The college is known for its programs in intellectual property law, health law and public interest law.

The Richard H. Driehaus College of Business and its Kellstadt Graduate School of Business offer respected programs of business study that provide real-world knowledge and connections for career advancement. The college houses programs that are nationally ranked, including a No. 1 ranking for its master's in taxation degree based on a survey of tax firm hiring managers and a top-25 ranking for its undergraduate entrepreneurship program from Entrepreneur Magazine and the Princeton Review.

The College of Computing and Digital Media offers a diverse program of practical and cutting-edge study, including degrees in computer science, digital cinema, network security and computer game development. The college contains the School of Computing—which incorporates traditional information technology majors such as information systems and software engineering as well as emerging fields such as predictive analytics—and the School of Cinema and Interactive Media—which features digital arts majors such as graphic design, animation and interactive media.

The College of Education's primary mission is to prepare students to become teachers, educational leaders and counselors. Partnerships with the Chicago Public Schools, the Archdiocese, charter and private schools as well as with social service agencies have enhanced the experiences of faculty, our students and those Chicagoland individuals whose lives they touch.

The School for New Learning is an internationally recognized leader in educating adults, offering flexible undergraduate and graduate programs. It pioneered individualized degree programs, online learning for adult students, the assessment of learning outside the classroom, and competence-based education. Its inventive approach to education has been used as a model around the world.

Dedicated to excellence in music teaching and performance, the School of Music's distinguished faculty includes members of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra and the Lyric Opera. The Theatre School, founded as the Goodman School of Drama, is one of America's oldest and most respected theatre training schools. A new facility to house The Theatre School opened in 2013 as part of DePaul's ambitious redevelopment of its Lincoln Park Campus.

The College of Communication offers programs in areas such as relational, organizational and intercultural communication, journalism, media and cinema studies and public relations and advertising. A diverse and prestigious roster of faculty with extensive academic, industry and international experience, along with cutting-edge curricula and awardwinning programs and student-led organizations, have positioned the college as one of the top places to study communication.

DePaul's tradition of educational achievement is complemented by a strong commitment to public service. DePaul's Irwin W. Steans Center for Community-based Service Learning has earned national accolades for integrating academics and community service. The center supports more than 3,400 service-learning students a year in more than 180 courses from across DePaul's colleges and schools. Last year, the center logged more than a half million hours of community service.

Collegiate athletics is another important part of university life. DePaul's 15 intercollegiate men's and women's athletic teams are members of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) Division I, BIG EAST Conference. In 2014, the women's basketball team won its first BIG EAST tournament championship and marked its 12th consecutive appearance in the NCAA tournament. Numerous DePaul teams claimed BIG EAST Team Academic Excellence Awards in recent years.

This year's graduates and DePaul's more than 161,500 living alumni are linked by more than the valuable degrees they receive on commencement day. DePaul's graduates have succeeded in a learning environment that values both academic achievement and community responsibility—values that will remain with them throughout their lives and careers as they carry on the heritage of St. Vincent de Paul.

THE VINCENTIAN CHARACTER

DePaul, a Catholic, Vincentian and urban university, takes its name from Saint Vincent de Paul. The religious community founded by Saint Vincent, commonly known as "Vincentians," established the university and endowed it with a distinctive spirit: to foster in higher education a deep respect for the God-given dignity of all persons, especially the materially, culturally and spiritually deprived, and to instill in educated persons a dedication to the service of others. The women and men of DePaul have retained this spirit as a highly valued heritage and a vital influence in every succeeding generation of the university's development.

THE COAT OF ARMS

The main section of the shield consists of nine panes forming a heraldic cross, the symbol of the Christian faith. The center pane holds a heart which represents Saint Vincent de Paul, for whom the university is named. Because he spent his life in the service of God and people, especially the poor, Saint Vincent is considered to be the Apostle of Charity. The pane above the heart holds a crescent symbolizing Mary, the Immaculate Conception, the patroness of the United States.

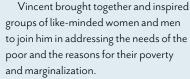

The upper section contains a fleur-de-lis, symbol of France, Vincent's homeland. Three are shown, representing the Trinity. This section also carries two symbols of Chicago. A line suggestive of the wall of a fort represents Fort Dearborn. The phoenix rising from the flames atop the shield is both a symbol of the Resurrection of Christ and the resurrection of the City of Chicago after the Great Fire of 1871.

The inscription 1898 refers to the year DePaul was first chartered by the State of Illinois as St. Vincent's College. In 1907 a new charter was granted in the name of DePaul University.

The motto of DePaul University, "Viam sapientiae monstrabo tibi," is taken from the biblical book of Proverbs (4:11) and is translated, "I will show you the way of wisdom."

SAINT VINCENT DE PAUL

Saint Vincent de Paul (1581–1660), for whom the university is named, lived in seventeenth century France. He was a compassionate and deeply spiritual priest who dedicated his life to serving the poor. He founded the Congregation of the Mission, commonly known as the Vincentians. This is the Roman Catholic religious community that established and continues to sponsor DePaul University.

Vincent also was a man of wisdom who believed in the power of education to transform the world for the better. He believed in the sacredness of life, and the God-given dignity and inestimable value for each person. He is aptly known as the "Apostle of Charity."

THE TREE OF WISDOM

The symbol expresses the university's integration of education and religion by combining the forms of a tree and a cross. Central to the symbol is a modified cruciform, suggestive of the Catholic roots of the university. This cruciform also is expressive of the human form, with arms uplifted and outstretched to give spirit and life to the environment. The figure stands erect and balanced suggesting a strength of knowledge and values.

Viewing the symbol as a single unit, one sees our "Tree of Wisdom" resting firmly on the ground, with its square base and raised limbs in symmetry. It has age and fullness in its trunk and limbs, suggesting tradition; and youth and simplicity in its internal negative spaces, representing leaf forms suggestive of sapling growth.

Typographically, the symbol incorporates and combines the lower case letterforms d, p and u. The "u" form extending upward from the trunk is a true arc, a section of a perfect circle. Its position relative to the figure represents support, rather than containment, just as the university supports the human spirit in the pursuit of knowledge and the deepening of religious values.

DePaul University and each of its 10 colleges and schools have a distinctive heraldic banner.

These banners play a prominent ceremonial role in the university's commencement ceremonies.

The university banner features DePaul's colors, red and blue. The interrelationship between the university and the city is illustrated by the skyline motif.

The banners of each of DePaul's 10 colleges and schools are shown below, in the order in which they became a part of DePaul.

COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS AND SOCIAL SCIENCES

Academic Colors: White for the arts and letters, citron for the social sciences

The alternating panes of color symbolize the interrelationship of the diverse courses of study in the arts and social sciences.

SCHOOL FOR NEW LEARNING

Academic Color: Yellow green

The "gyronny," a heraldic pattern of eight lines radiating out from the center, symbolizes the school's wide-ranging program of study.

DRIEHAUS COLLEGE OF BUSINESS

Academic Color: Taupe

The "party per cross" design uses two tinctures to impart the quantitative nature of business enterprise.

THE THEATRE SCHOOL

Academic Color: Brown

The "lozengy," or two-color diamond pattern, symbolizes the arts and also is reminiscent of the harlequin of the Commedia dell'Arte, theatre of the Italian Renaissance.

SCHOOL OF MUSIC

Academic Color: Pink

Heraldic bars of white against a pink field represent the 10 lines of the musical staff, a translator of the musical language.

COLLEGE OF COMPUTING AND DIGITAL MEDIA

Academic Color: Yellow

The triangular shapes represent the three primary areas of emphasis in the school, and the reversal of colors of the triangles in the squares the fundamental binary nature of computing.

COLLEGE OF LAW

Academic Color: Purple

The double-reversed chevrons illustrate the traditional scales of justice associated with the field of jurisprudence.

COLLEGE OF COMMUNICATION

Academic Colors: Silver grey (communication studies) and crimson (mass communication)

The arrows call to mind early communication models representing sender and receiver, but depicted here in a dynamic geometric model that acknowledges the complexity of human and mediated communications.

COLLEGE OF EDUCATION

Academic Color: Light blue

The "saltire" (a corner-to-corner cross) is the heraldic symbol illustrating change and growth, the dual results of the educational process.

COLLEGE OF SCIENCE AND HEALTH

Academic Colors: Yellow for the sciences, and sage for health

The alternating panes of color symbolize the interrelationship of the diverse courses of study in the sciences and health.

ACADEMIC DRESS

The tradition of academic dress dates back to the Middle Ages, when gowns were a common form of attire in early European universities. Since those universities were founded by the church, students were required to wear the prescribed gowns at all times. They represent an adaptation of the cape or mantle worn by religious dignitaries in processions.

The traditional color of academic gowns has been black, but over the years other colors and styles were adopted. In 1896, the colleges and universities of the United States adopted a uniform code governing academic dress.

The style of gown varies according to the academic degree awarded. The color of the lining of the hood indicates the college or university of the wearer's degree.

For graduates of DePaul University, sky blue with a red chevron is used. The border of the hood is trimmed in a color indicating the field of study. Below is a list of the most common academic colors.

White	Arts and Letters
Scarlet	Theology
Purple	Law
Green	Medicine
Dark Blue	Philosophy
Yellow	Science
Brown	Architecture and the Fine Arts
Pink	Music
Lilac	Dentistry
Orange	Engineering
Olive	Pharmacy
Light Brown	Business
Lemon Yellow	Library Science
Light Blue	Education
Peacock Blue	International Affairs
Citron Yellow	Social Work

THE DEPAUL UNIVERSITY MACE

DePaul University has created, as part of its permanent institutional academic regalia, a university mace. The mace was commissioned by the Office of Mission and Values.

Originally used as a weapon in medieval warfare, the mace has been used ceremonially since the 12th century. Traditionally bearing coats of arms or other heraldic images, the mace was borne in procession—always on the right shoulder—as a symbol of civil, ecclesiastical and academic authority and jurisdiction.

Designed by the renowned liturgical artist Joseph Luiz Rameriz of Axis Mundi Studios in Chicago, the DePaul University mace has been hand-crafted utilizing the finest materials and the talents of crafts-persons on two continents. The silversmith for the work was Huseyin Baykal, a distinguished Turkish artist. The silver work of the mace is called repoussage. It is a process of beating sheets of silver on dense beds of tar. The silversmith taps the silver thousands of times with steel punches to bring forth the intricacies of the envisioned design.

Measuring approximately 48 inches long, the mace is made of hand-turned yew wood. Covering the yew wood are twining silver rose stems and buds symbolizing the passage of time and the renewal of life.

Surmounting the mace is a phoenix from the university's coat of arms. The phoenix rising from the flames is both a symbol of the Resurrection of Christ and the resurrection of the City of Chicago after the Great Fire of 1871. Also at the top of the mace are enameled pendants of hearts and the crescent moon. These symbols also are taken from the coat of arms. The heart represents Saint Vincent de Paul. The crescent symbolizes Mary, the Immaculate Conception and patroness of the United States.

GRADUATION WITH HONOR

The bachelor's degree with honor is conferred upon candidates who have achieved exceptional scholastic proficiency. The distinction "Summa Cum Laude" is conferred upon those candidates who have demonstrated remarkable scholastic ability by attaining a 3.85 grade point average. The distinction "Magna Cum Laude" is conferred upon those candidates who have demonstrated definite superior ability by attaining a 3.7 grade point average. The distinction "Cum Laude" is conferred upon those who have distinguished themselves by attaining a 3.5 grade point average.

The level of honor is verified after spring quarter. The honor notation is recorded on the student's diploma and academic record.

VIA SAPIENTIAE AWARD

In 1961, DePaul University established the Via Sapientiae Award to honor individuals who have served devotedly the purposes and ideals of the university. It takes its name from the university's motto: "Viam Sapientiae Monstrabo Tibi," taken from the Book of Proverbs and translated from the Latin as, "I will show you the way of wisdom." This defines the university's highest function and provides the criteria for evaluating the contributions of those persons who have spent their lives in the university's service.

PLEDGE OF SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY

Those graduates wearing green ribbons on their gowns today have made a personal commitment to practice social responsibility in their life and work.

THE PRESIDENTIAL MEDALLION

The presidential medallion symbolizes the authority conferred as a sacred trust by the Board of Trustees upon the president as the chief executive officer of the university. By virtue of his office, the president is personally entrusted with the responsibility of promoting the mission and values that underlie DePaul University's service to its students and its distinctive identity as a Catholic, Vincentian and urban institution.

Created in 2004 by the renowned Chicago silversmith William N. Frederick, the DePaul University presidential medallion is in the form of the university seal, cast in silver and suspended from a chain with links to the heraldic symbols of each of the university's 10 schools and colleges.

The new medallion was commissioned by the Office of Mission and Values and the Office of Academic Affairs in honor of the inauguration of the Rev. Dennis H. Holtschneider, C.M., as the university's eleventh president.

UNIVERSITY STUDENT LEADERS

RECESSIONAL

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT & SPEAKER

Robert P. Moses

Civil Rights Pioneer and Education Advocate

Robert P. Moses has dedicated his life to finding ways that provide marginalized members of society with the tools they need to find freedom and become fully active citizens. In the 1960s, he became a hero in the civil rights movement for tirelessly working in the face of great adversity to register rural African-American voters in Mississippi. More recently, he changed his focus from the sharecropping fields to the classroom by developing innovative programs to improve students' math literacy. He is committed to using education as a tool to give greater economic opportunities to those who are underrepresented.

Moses is considered one of the civil rights movement's most influential volunteers. Working with the historic Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, or SNCC, he led the charge to push voter registration to the center of civil rights work. He also was one of the first members of the movement to focus on the poor, illiterate, African-American populations of Mississippi. Operating under constant threats of violence, Moses persevered to register thousands of new Mississippi voters and train other organizers. In 1964, he spearheaded the Freedom Summer, which transported college students to the South to register African-American voters. He also played a key role in forming the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party, a challenger to the state's whites-only Democratic Party.

Education has been central to Moses' life. The son of a janitor, he grew up in the Harlem neighborhood of New York City and graduated from Hamilton College with a bachelor's degree in philosophy and French. He then earned a master's degree from Harvard University and returned to New York City to teach at the Horace Mann School. He left Horace Mann to join the civil rights movement, but didn't stay away from teaching for long. After leaving the civil rights movement, he and his wife moved to Tanzania, where Moses taught math for a decade. Years later, he returned to Harvard to work on his PhD.

In 1982, Moses refocused his efforts after the MacArthur Foundation awarded him one of its prestigious five-year "genius grants." By then, he had become convinced that economic access and equality depended crucially on math literacy—and that the same community-organizing tactics that strengthened his efforts in the civil rights movement could be applied to improving math skills. He used funds from his MacArthur fellowship to start the Algebra Project, a nonprofit devoted to bringing an innovative approach to teaching math to poor minority children.

Students with the lowest scores on standardized math tests would take classes through the Algebra Project with the goal of learning college-level math by the end of high school. Using teaching methods developed by Moses, instructors pushed students to think deeply about math instead of learning the skills by rote memory. Today, the Algebra Project has a presence in hundreds of schools across the country.

Moses has been honored with several prestigious awards recognizing his work to improve others' lives through education. The Heinz Family Foundation presented him its Heinz Award for the Human Condition in 2000; the Puffin Foundation and Nation Institute presented him the Nation/Puffin Prize for Creative Citizenship; and the National Association of Secretaries of State presented him the Margaret Chase Smith American Democracy Award. The Education Commission of the States presented him the James Bryant Conant Award in 2002.

His many recognitions are a testament to his leadership in the civil rights movement as well as his outstanding dedication to using education to spur social change. Through his work and personal example, Moses has shown how one person can make a difference in the lives of many others for generations to come, whether in the voting booth or the classroom.

CITATION

Robert P. Moses, you have shown great bravery and perseverance throughout your life in the service of empowering marginalized individuals. Your historic leadership during the civil rights movement led thousands of poor, rural African-Americans in Mississippi to register to vote for the first time. As founder and president of the Algebra Project, you are dedicated to improving the lives of disadvantaged and underrepresented children through education and by providing teachers with quality tools to reach their students. By using your life to promote equality, empowerment and access to education, you have demonstrated beautifully the ideals of this university's namesake, St. Vincent de Paul. For these reasons and more, DePaul University is privileged to confer upon you the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa.

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

Rev. Joseph L. Levesque, C.M.

Vincentian and Higher Education Leader and Community Advocate

The Rev. Joseph L. Levesque, C.M., first stepped onto the Niagara University campus in 1970 to serve as a lecturer in the university's religious studies department. Little did he know then that the assignment would be the start of a 40-year association that would lead to great advancements at the institution. After becoming president of Niagara in 2000, he led a bold transformation that modernized the university's physical campus as well as its approach to learning. Today, he is widely admired for his strong leadership in higher education and the Vincentian community, as well as for being a loyal ambassador for the university he served for so long. When he stepped down from Niagara's presidency in May 2013, a colleague said of him, "Anyone who speaks of Niagara University speaks of Father Levesque."

When he became the 25th president of the university, Father Levesque was driven to establish a "new Niagara"—a modern campus that would evolve with the times yet remain true to its Vincentian mission and dedication to students. This led to the creation of a comprehensive Niagara master plan that served as the blueprint for redevelopment of the university's 160-acre campus. Under his tenure, the university invested close to $100 million in new construction, renovations, improvement projects and upgraded technology. The successful completion of an $80 million capital campaign, the largest in the university's history, helped fund a large part of the development. It also raised more than $9 million for scholarships and financial assistance for students.

Father Levesque's commitment to community service is evident in the many advisory councils, nonprofit boards and steering committees on which he has served throughout his life. During his tenure as president of Niagara, he prioritized initiatives that would benefit the greater community. The university formed ReNU Niagara, a community outreach partnership center that supports and empowers Niagara city residents to make community improvements. He inspired the creation of the Rev. Joseph L. Levesque, C.M., Institute for Civic Engagement, an initiative at Niagara named in his honor and designed to strengthen existing community partnerships and form new relationships. The institute encourages community service opportunities for Niagara students and faculty and is a central resource for anyone in the Niagara Falls or Buffalo communities who wishes to partner with the university.

A native of North Tarrytown (now known as Sleepy Hollow), New York, Father Levesque was ordained a Vincentian priest in 1967. He taught at a preparatory school in Brooklyn and at St. Joseph's Seminary in Princeton, New Jersey, before his first assignment at Niagara. After receiving his doctorate in sacred theology from The Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C., Father Levesque served as dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at Niagara from 1978 to 1986. That year, he returned to St. Joseph's Seminary to lead the school as its president. Several years later, he was elected provincial superior of the Eastern Province of the Congregation of the Mission, his religious order. After serving his nine-year term as provincial superior, he became president of Niagara.

Father Levesque concluded his tenure as president at the end of the 2012-13 academic year and assumed the title president emeritus. But he did not stay away from higher education for long. The board of trustees of St. John's University in Queens, New York, elected him its interim president in August 2013. Father Levesque began his tenure as St. John's interim president with a pledge to work with the university to help strengthen its role in Vincentian higher education.

Civic groups and universities have honored Father Levesque for his dedication to community service and commitment to Vincentian higher education. In 2012, the Turkish Cultural Center at Buffalo and the Peace Islands Institute presented him a Service Award to recognize his contributions to service-learning education in fighting poverty. The Niagara USA Chamber named him its Community Advocate of the Year in March 2013. He holds honorary degrees from Niagara and St. John's Universities, as well as an honorary doctorate from Christ the King Seminary in East Aurora, New York.

Through his devotion to higher education and strong leadership, Father Levesque has shown how one person's tireless devotion can have a tremendous impact on an institution and community.

CITATION

The Rev. Joseph L. Levesque, C.M., your lifetime of leadership has had a tremendous impact within higher education as well as in the Congregation of the Mission, the religious order to which you have devoted your life. You transformed the university where you began as a lecturer, and exemplified the way a university should partner with the communities that surround it. Your leadership was known not only for vision and devotion, but also for love for all those who worked alongside you. By remaining active in higher education, you generously continue to share your wisdom and leadership lessons with others. For these reasons and more, DePaul University is privileged to confer upon you the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa.

César Pelli

World-Renowned Architect

As one of the greatest living architects, César Pelli designs breath-taking buildings that become architectural icons by tying client needs to the structure's environmental, economic and social contexts. The breadth of his projects range from one of the tallest buildings in the world to libraries, museums, research centers and private residences. DePaul is incredibly fortunate that its Lincoln Park campus features one of his latest designs—an elegant five-story building that serves as the new home for The Theatre School. His thoughtful creation will influence generations of students who will walk through its doors.

Pelli was born in Argentina, where teenagers typically select their profession after completing high school. Though he knew very little about architecture, he pursued the profession after learning through university course listings that it combined his varied interests in drawing, history, painting, mathematics and art. He discovered his passion—and talent—for the art and science of building design while earning his bachelor's degree in architecture at the National University of Tucumán.

At age 26, he came to the United States to earn his master's degree in architecture from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. Following graduation, he began his professional career at Eero Saarinen and Associates, the architecture firm run by the modernist legend for which it was named. While working alongside Saarinen, he helped design the Trans World Airlines Terminal at John F. Kennedy International Airport in New York City, among other projects. After a decade, he left Eero Saarinen and Associates for Los Angeles, where he served as design director at two firms for the next 13 years. During this time, he earned acclaim for designing San Bernardino City Hall and Pacific Design Center, buildings in California known for their expressive and colorful glass.

In 1977, Pelli moved to New Haven, Connecticut, to become dean of the School of Architecture at Yale University and to start his own practice, César Pelli and Associates, now known as Pelli Clarke Pelli. He remained dean of the prestigious architecture school for seven years. Meanwhile, his firm handled important commissions that established it as one of the eminent architecture firms in the world.

Until recently, Pelli personally originated and directed the design of each of his firm's projects. Now he limits his participation to a few projects, such as The Theatre School building at DePaul. Pelli Clarke Pelli's creations demonstrate a sensitivity to public space with designs that enhance the surrounding space without being overwhelming. Some of the firm's well-known projects include the expansion and renovation of the Museum of Modern Art in New York in 1984 and, in the mid-1990s, the design of Malaysia's Petronas Twin Towers, which were the tallest buildings in the world upon their completion. His firm's other major projects are the Ronald Reagan Washington National Airport in Washington, D.C.; the World Financial Center in New York City; and the U.S. Embassy in Tokyo, Japan. Just last year, the Metropolitan Pier and Exposition Authority in Chicago selected Pelli Clarke Pelli to design a new event center in the South Loop area that will serve as the future home of DePaul basketball.

Numerous prizes and awards have honored Pelli's work. To date, he has received more than 200 awards for design excellence. In addition, his outstanding reputation as one of the greatest living architects has resulted in an appointment as a fellow of the American Institute of Architects and membership in the American Academy of Arts and Letters, the National Academy of Design, the International Academy of Architecture and l'Academie d'Architecture de France. In recognition of a lifetime of distinguished achievement in architecture, the American Institute of Architects in 1995 awarded Pelli its highest honor, the Gold Medal. In 2004, Pelli was awarded the Aga Khan Award for Architecture for the design of the Petronas Towers.

Described by an architecture critic as a "campus icon," his design for the new Theatre School building places backstage activities out front for all to see. To emphasize openness and transparency, Pelli Clarke Pelli filled the state-of-the-art facility with glass, giving Lincoln Park neighbors a glimpse into the lobby and scene shops from the street and theatergoers passing classrooms a chance to see student learning in action. With two cutting-edge theatre spaces as well as specially tailored rehearsal and work areas, The Theatre School building is the perfect incubator to nurture budding actors, actresses, costume and set designers and stage managers.

Through this remarkable contribution to DePaul and through other renowned buildings, Pelli demonstrates how beauty can be integrated into a functional and timeless structure. There is no doubt that his brilliant talent has made an indelible mark on the world.

CITATION

César Pelli, you are an architectural legend whose influence has changed skylines and landscapes throughout the world. You have used your talent to bring character and beauty to all varieties of buildings that inspire its inhabitants. By designing with a building's environmental context in mind, you create iconic structures that are not only magnificent but also respectful of the surrounding physical space. Your commitment to improving society through the art of architecture reflects Vincentian ideals that are at the core of this university's mission. For these reasons and more, DePaul University is privileged to confer upon you the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa.

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT & SPEAKER

Sandra Cisneros

Writer, Mentor, Community Activist

Sandra Cisneros is a trail-blazing author whose award-winning novels were some of the first to introduce Latina characters into mainstream American fiction. After achieving great critical success, she created several innovative programs to jumpstart the careers of other Latina/ Latino artists. Her career as a writer and mentor has changed the landscape of American literature in meaningful ways.

Chicago is an important part of Cisneros' life story. She was born here and grew up in the Humboldt Park neighborhood with her six brothers, an experience that later inspired her break-through novel, "The House on Mango Street." Her first piece of published writing appeared in the literary journal of her Catholic high school, Josephinum Academy. In 1976, she graduated from Loyola University, and then left Chicago to earn her Master of Fine Arts degree in creative writing from the University of Iowa writer's workshop. She lived for many years in San Antonio, Texas, where she played a major role in shaping the city's literary culture.

Cisneros' books explore migration, racism, poverty, female identity and the social struggles of Latinas/Latinos—issues she has encountered in her own life. When a division of Random House issued "The House on Mango Street" in 1991, she became one of the first female Mexican-American writers to have her work published by a mainstream publisher. The book tells the story of Esperanza, a young, poor Mexican-American girl growing up in Chicago who is searching for her identity. With more than five million copies sold, "The House on Mango Street" is considered a classic that is required reading in many U.S. schools. She also has written the collection of short stories "Woman Hollering Creek and Other Stories" (1991); the novel "Caramelo" (2002); two books of poetry, "My Wicked Wicked Ways" (1987) and "Loose Woman" (1995); a children's book, "Hairs/Pelitos" (1997); and an illustrated fable for adults, "Have You Seen Marie?" She currently is working on a collection of her essays.

Many outstanding national organizations have celebrated Cisneros' talent and contributions to literature. The National Endowment for the Arts presented her a grant in 1982, the same year she finished "The House on Mango Street," and again in 1988. The Before Columbus Foundation presented her its American Book Award honoring excellence in American literature in 1985 for "The House on Mango Street." The Mexican Fine Arts Center museum recognized her body of work in 1998 with a lifetime achievement award. The following year, the MacArthur Foundation selected her for its prestigious MacArthur Fellows Program, known informally as the "genius grant." In 2003, the Texas Cultural Trust recognized her as a Texan who achieved greatness through her creative talents with its Texas Medal of the Arts.

After completing her MacArthur fellowship, Cisneros searched for ways to encourage other Latino writers and artists. In 1995, she started the Macondo Writing Workshop in her dining room to connect writers to review each other's work. In less than nine years, the workshop grew from 15 to more than 120 participants, leading to its expansion into the Macondo Foundation. The foundation continues to assist writers with lodging and airfare to its annual workshops through the auspices of the Guadalupe Cultural Arts Center in San Antonio.

In 2000, she created the Alfredo Cisneros del Moral Foundation in honor of her father to showcase the work of writers who were born in Texas, live in Texas or write about Texas. She also organized Los MacArturos, a collection of Latino winners of the MacArthur fellowship. The group meets periodically and acts as a creative think tank to encourage each other's work as well as the work of other Latina/Latino writers and to motivate local communities.

In addition to her writing, Cisneros is known for her community activism and for lending her time to causes that are dear to her. She supports public libraries, education and literacy efforts, and speaks often about the importance of mentoring and empowering young Latinas.

Through her ground-breaking work and selfless encouragement of others, Cisneros has shown how one can use personal success to benefit entire communities. She is an inspiration to writers, young Latinos and, indeed, all those who understand the power of the literary voice to shape our perspective and drive us to action.

CITATION

Sandra Cisneros, you made history when your novel "The House on Mango Street" became one of the first books by a Mexican-American author to be published by a mainstream publisher. In book after book, you continued to focus on such challenging issues as race and poverty and, in so doing, have given a much-needed voice to marginalized members of society. After finding great success as a writer, you shared your time and critical expertise to nurture new talent and develop communities of writers that could encourage each other. Throughout your career, you have supported literacy, libraries and the education of less privileged young people, all acts that exemplify DePaul's Vincentian ideals. For these reasons and more, DePaul University is privileged to confer upon you the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa.

RECESSIONAL

Rev. Larry Snyder

CEO, Humanitarian, Advocate for the Poor

As leader of the largest private network of social service agencies in the country, the Rev. Larry Snyder oversees Catholic Charities USA's efforts to serve more than 9.25 million people a year, regardless of their religious, social or economic backgrounds. He is a tireless advocate for helping those in need and has championed eradicating poverty through the use of innovative approaches. Because of his efforts, some of the most vulnerable members of society are growing stronger and troubled communities are finding hope.

Father Snyder grew up one of 12 children in a small town in central Illinois. He earned his bachelor's degree from Illinois Benedictine College in Lisle, Illinois, and then entered a Benedictine monastery to live as a monk for five years. For eight years, he taught music and German to high school students in Illinois before entering the seminary. In 1988, he was ordained a priest in the Archdiocese of St. Paul and Minneapolis. He later earned master's degrees from St. Paul Seminary and Hamline University, both in St. Paul, Minnesota.

After serving as an associate pastor for three years at Catholic churches in Minnesota, Father Snyder shifted his focus to the administration of social services. In 1991, he began his long professional relationship with Catholic Charities of St. Paul and Minneapolis as an assistant director. Within eight years, he became CEO of the agency with responsibility for a $39 million operating budget and nearly 500 staff. His tenure as CEO of the agency was transformative. In five years' time, he guided a restructuring and downsizing of the board, created and recruited an effective management team and more than doubled annual giving.

While leading Catholic Charities of St. Paul and Minneapolis, he also assisted the national organization by chairing its National Disaster Response Advisory Committee. With his guidance, the committee oversaw the awarding of more than $30 million in grants to 25 local Catholic Charities agencies following the September 11 terrorist attacks. This funding supported efforts to help families and communities recover from the tragedy.

His success as a leader impressed the board of trustees of Catholic Charities USA, which named him its president and CEO in 2004. Just six months into his tenure, Hurricanes Katrina and Rita struck the Gulf Coast and devastated the region. Father Snyder led Catholic Charities' largest disaster recovery efforts in its history to provide immediate and long-term aid to more than one million people in need. Today, he is responsible for the overall direction of the Catholic Charities movement and administration of Catholic Charities USA, an organization with more than 160 local agencies. Father Snyder oversees the organization's work to reduce poverty in America and has become a leading voice on the topic. He frequently advises government, businesses and academic professionals on issues related to poverty. In 2010, Orbis Books published his book "Think and Act Anew: How Poverty in America Affects Us All and What We Can Do about It."

National and international groups seek his leadership and expertise. In 2007, Pope Benedict XVI named him to the Pontifical Council Cor Unum, the group that oversees the Church's charitable activities around the world. From 2006-2011, he served as president of Caritas North America, a confederation of three Catholic relief and social service organizations (including Catholic Charities USA) that work on common initiatives. In 2009, President Barack Obama appointed him to a two-year term on the President's Advisory Council on Faith-based and Neighborhood Partnerships.

Through his effective leadership and tireless activism, Father Snyder has improved the lives of countless individuals. He is an inspiration and a role model for those who wish to make a difference in the world.

CITATION

Rev. Larry Snyder, throughout your distinguished career, you have consistently demonstrated values that this university holds dear: service to one's community, integrity and a dedication to helping others reach their full potential. Your capable leadership at Catholic Charities USA is responsible for improving the lives of millions of people in America. Driven by your faith, you have provided a voice for the voiceless and have brought much-needed national attention to the issue of poverty. You have dedicated your life to action that exemplifies the Vincentian mission on which this university is based. For these reasons and more, DePaul University is privileged to confer upon you the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa.

RECESSIONAL

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT & SPEAKER

Jon Favreau

Actor, Screenwriter, Director

From action-packed blockbusters to one of the most beloved holiday movies of the modern era, Jon Favreau has directed, written, produced or acted in prominent Hollywood films that entertain and excite moviegoers. He is widely respected for his versatility and for instilling a sense of humanity in the characters he portrays.

Born and raised in Queens, New York, Favreau moved to Chicago in the 1980s to become a part of the city's famous improvisational comedy scene. He performed at the ImprovOlympic, known today as the iO Chicago Theater, and the Improv Institute. In 1993, he landed a small role in the timeless football film "Rudy," where he befriended actor and fellow castmate Vince Vaughn. The friendship would lead to a lasting professional collaboration that continues to this day.

After moving to Hollywood, Favreau was cast in small roles in the movies "Folks!" (1992) and "Batman Forever" (1995), as well as on the hit television show "Seinfeld." Inspired by his own experiences in Hollywood, he wrote a script about a struggling comedian whose outgoing friend forces him into the Los Angeles social scene. With himself in the lead role and Vaughn cast as the sociable friend, the movie "Swingers" became both actors' breakout film hit. Though "Swingers" had a $200,000 budget, it earned more than $4.5 million in U.S. movie theaters.

Following the success of "Swingers," Favreau was featured in the movies "Deep Impact" (1998) and "Something's Gotta Give" (2000). He also played a recurring role on the television sitcom "Friends." In 2001, he debuted his directorial skills with the movie "Made," a mafia comedy he also wrote and co-starred in. Next, he directed "Elf," starring Will Ferrell. The movie shares the tale of one of Santa's elves who searches for his father in New York City after learning that he truly is a human. By deliberately infusing the movie with innocence, Favreau created an instant Christmas classic that grossed more than $225 million worldwide. In 2005, he followed "Elf" by directing the critically acclaimed "Zathura," a science-fiction film about teenagers who are drawn into an inter-galactic space adventure.

He shifted his interests to sci-fi and comic books in 2008 when he became director and executive producer of "Iron Man," the film adaptation of the Marvel Comics series. Drawing on his Chicago improv roots, Favreau allowed the "Iron Man" actors to improvise some of their lines, which lent spontaneity and spark to the film's dialogue. The film was a critical and box office success. Favreau also produced and directed "Iron Man 2" (2010) and served as producer for "The Avengers" (2012) and "Iron Man 3" (2013). In 2011, he directed and produced "Cowboys & Aliens," starring Harrison Ford and Daniel Craig.

His directing skills also can be found on television. He was the creator, producer and host of the Emmy-nominated series "Dinner for Five," which aired on IFC. Favreau directed pilots to the NBC television series "Revolution" in 2012 and "About a Boy" in 2013. Last year, he directed one of the final episodes of "The Office." His upcoming television projects include serving as executive producer for the dramatic series "Shannara," based on the fantasy novels written by Terry Brooks, currently in development by MTV.

In recent years, Favreau has returned to comedy by starring in several films with Vaughn, including "The Break-Up" (2006), "Four Christmases" (2008) and "Couple's Retreat" (2009). He also wrote, directed and starred in the independent film "Chef," which opened in May. The movie shares the story of a chef who reexamines his life after he is fired for engaging in a Twitter argument with a restaurant reviewer. In deciding to open a food truck with friends, the chef learns how taking a step back in life can lead to personal and even professional success. Favreau based the screenplay on personal lessons he learned throughout his career.

He generously supports several charities, including Got Your 6, which unites the entertainment industry with nonprofits that assist veterans, and the Catalina Island Conservancy, which is dedicated to supporting environmental preservation on Catalina Island. This year, he is serving as co-chair of Tony Hawk's Stand Up for Skateparks Fundraiser, a charity event he has supported for the past eight years. The event helps fund skateboard parks in low-income neighborhoods.

His exemplary career shows the opportunities that can arise when one possesses talent, persistence and a willingness to take risks.

CITATION

Jon Favreau, in your illustrious career, you have shown the good that can come from following your dreams and creating opportunities for yourself. By embracing your versatility, your influence as an actor, director, screenwriter and producer extends across a wide variety of film genres. The touch of humanity you bring to all of your films gives characters depth and makes them relatable to moviegoers of all ages. The movie industry is better because you are a part of it. Your support of charities that assist veterans, provide recreational activities for low-income youth and encourage environmental preservation reflect the Vincentian ideals of this university. For these reasons and more, DePaul University is privileged to confer upon you the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa.

Mariano's prolific career in the grocery store industry has taken him from part-time deli clerk to chairman, president and CEO of Roundy's, Inc., one of the fastest-growing grocery companies in the region. Based in Milwaukee, Roundy's is a parent company to the grocery store chains Pick 'n Save, Copps, Metro Market and Rainbow. Its newest chain, Mariano's, first opened in Illinois in 2010, and will operate 29 stores in the Chicago area by the end of this year.

The oldest of five children, Mariano was born on Chicago's West Side and raised in the Jefferson Park neighborhood. His first exposure to the grocery business came in high school, when he began working part time behind the deli counter at a Dominick's Finer Foods store in Des Plaines. With the dream of one day becoming a medical doctor, Mariano entered the University of Illinois at Chicago, where he earned his bachelor's degree in biological sciences and chemistry.

Early in his career, he faced a series of hurdles when six medical schools turned him down for entrance and 13 pharmaceutical companies rejected him for sales positions. Mariano used the opportunity to explore other interests. He became a food-service salesman at Oscar Mayer, where he learned important lessons in producing high-quality products and providing employees the training that would allow them to succeed.

In 1973, the grocery store chain Dominick's recruited him to return to the company to become assistant commissary manager. In the ensuing years, Mariano rose to the top of the company while amassing an unparalleled knowledge of the grocery store industry. While leading at various times Dominick's operations, merchandising and marketing divisions, he mastered every facet of the business—from warehouses to the dairy operation. Eventually, he became chief operating officer, and then president and CEO. As the firm's leader, Mariano helped take the company public. In 1987, he earned his MBA.

When Safeway Inc. purchased Dominick's in 1998, Mariano left the company and worked as an independent consultant for several years before joining Roundy's in 2002 as chairman, president and CEO. The company currently operates more than 160 grocery stores, mostly in Wisconsin and Minnesota, and is expanding rapidly in the Chicago area with its Mariano's stores. Under Mariano's leadership, Roundy's built the new 1.1 million-square-foot Oconomowoc Distribution Center in Wisconsin.

In 2003, Mariano established the Roundy's Foundation to strengthen ties between the company and communities where its stores operate. The foundation supports nonprofits that contribute to creating strong families and enhancing people's quality of life with a focus on organizations combating hunger and domestic abuse. Since its inception, the Roundy's Foundation has provided nonprofits more than $8 million of support.

Mariano created the Mariano's stores with the vision of becoming the Nordstrom of the grocery business. At his direction, the Mariano's stores exceed expectations for price and selection, placing a premium on not only customer service, but the customer experience. The Mariano's stores have succeeded in Chicago, with each store generating, on average, approximately $1 million in sales per week—nearly twice as much as the average grocery store.

Following in the footsteps of the original owners of Dominick's, Mariano leaves Roundy's corporate headquarters in Milwaukee at least twice a week to visit the Mariano's stores in the Chicago area. He also attends every new-store employee orientation meeting to stress the importance of teamwork and exceptional customer service. It is no wonder that Mariano maintains a reputation as a tireless executive.

His life is a powerful example of the great heights a career can reach through resilience, perseverance and hard work.

CITATION

Robert A. Mariano, you have placed care of the customer and concern for employees at the center of a distinguished, successful career. As leader of Roundy's, you have shown determination in searching for ways your company's grocery stores can be innovative in a mature industry. Your push to offer high-quality products and compelling customer service improves communities and creates positive shopping experiences for customers. By establishing the Roundy's Foundation, you found a meaningful way to improve the lives of people in the communities your stores serve. As a compassionate leader with the highest integrity, you exemplify the Vincentian ideal of helping others reach their potential. For these reasons and more, DePaul University is privileged to confer upon you the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa.
