DEAR FACULTY MEMBER,

This Faculty Guide to Student Programs and Services includes information on university resources, supports and co-curricular programs available to our students. The guide is designed to help new and adjunct faculty become knowledgeable regarding co-curricular programs and services in order to encourage and support student progress and success. The guide also allows us to better partner with you to support students during their collegiate years.

The Division of Student Affairs develops and implements many of the programs and services found in the Faculty Guide to Student Programs and Services. We provide support services, such as counseling, advising and disability accommodations, along with other programs that foster student success, build community and contribute to the development of the whole student.

Members of my division are available to assist in helping you identify appropriate programs and resources for your students. Please take advantage of our expertise and reach out to us if you have questions or need additional information regarding co-curricular learning and student support services.

Sincerely,

Eugene L. Zdziarski, II, PhD

ABOUT DEPAUL UNIVERSITY

PRESIDENT
Robert L. Manuel, PhD

MISSION
The mission statement embodies the principal purposes of DePaul University. As such it is the nexus between past, present and future; the criterion against which plans are formulated and major decisions made; the bond which unites faculty, students, staff, alumni, and trustees as an academic community. The principal distinguishing marks of the university are its Catholic, Vincentian and urban character.

DEPAUL’S MISSION STATEMENT
As an innovative Catholic, Vincentian university anchored in the global city of Chicago, DePaul supports the integral human development of its students. The university does so through its commitment to outstanding teaching, academic excellence, real world experience, community engagement, and systemic change. DePaul prepares graduates to be successful in their chosen fields and agents of transformation throughout their lives.

Guided by an ethic of Vincentian personalism and professionalism, DePaul compassionately upholds the dignity of all members of its diverse, multi-faith, and inclusive community. Through education and research, the university addresses the great questions of our day, promoting peaceful, just, and equitable solutions to social and environmental challenges. Since its founding in 1898, DePaul University has remained dedicated to making education accessible to all, with special attention to including underserved and underrepresented communities.

The Chicago Quarter is part of the First-Year Program. All first-year students choose a class called Discover or Explore Chicago as part of their first quarter at DePaul.

Chicago Quarter Service Day
Chicago Quarter Service Day invites DePaul’s Discover Chicago Students to come together with the communities of Chicago for service and reflection. POLICIES AND EXPECTATIONS

By voluntarily joining the university community, each student agrees to abide by the standards that have been instituted by DePaul University. Students are responsible for being familiar with all of the policies included in the Code of Student Responsibility.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY
DePaul University is a learning community that promotes the intellectual development of each individual within the community. The university seeks to maintain and enhance the educational environment of the community in a variety of ways, including through the development and promotion of standards for academic honesty. The university believes that all members of the community are responsible for adherence to these standards for academic honesty, and that all violations of academic integrity are detrimental to the intellectual development of individuals within the community and to the community at large.

ALCOHOL
The State of Illinois prohibits the sale, use, distribution, manufacture or possession of all forms of alcoholic beverages by persons under 21 years of age. Students under 21 years of age may not sell, use, distribute, manufacture or possess all forms of alcoholic beverages.

Providing or distributing alcohol to individuals under the age of 21 is prohibited. Students, even those 21 years of age or older, may not possess or consume alcohol in common or non-reserved areas on university premises.

Alcohol consumption that results in behavior that infringes on the rights of others in the community is prohibited. Alcohol consumption that creates a risk of harm to self, including requiring a transport to the hospital for intoxication, is prohibited. Please review the full policy at go.depaul.edu/alcoholpolicy.

For specific policies regarding alcoholic beverages in the residence halls, please see the Guide to Student Housing. For specific policies regarding events sponsored by student organizations at which alcohol is served, please see the Student Organization Handbook.

CODE OF STUDENT RESPONSIBILITY
The Dean of Students Office is committed to partnership in the educational mission of DePaul University. This mission is enhanced by a Code of Student Responsibility, which includes policies that outline expectations and standards of behavior for the student community. Any community of more than 22,000 people needs rules. As a DePaul University student, the policies in the DePaul Code of Student Responsibility are not a list of things you can do wrong; it is a code designed to protect your rights and those of all DePaul students.

FERPA: STUDENT PRIVACY AT DEPAUL
DePaul is committed to maintaining student records privacy, in compliance with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (FERPA). Students are responsible for setting and maintaining their FERPA directory release preferences in Campus Connect. Students have access to all of their records maintained by the university except those considered to be confidential under the act. Students have access to view and print information from their academic record through Campus Connect. The university does not release this information to anyone other than the student.

Students are encouraged to maintain open communication with their parents and/or family members regarding academic progress and other important issues. For additional information, please visit Student Records or visit the federal government website. Any questions concerning FERPA should be directed to DePaul Central at dpcl@depaul.edu or (312) 362-8610.

HAZING
DePaul prohibits hazing, as defined under applicable laws. Hazing includes but is not limited to, any action taken or situation created to produce mental or physical discomfort, embarrassment, ridicule or endangerment of a student or group of students for the purpose of initiation into, affiliation with or admission to, or as a condition for continued membership in a group, team, club or other organization. Falsely leading an individual or individuals to believe that they will be inducted/initiated by participating in particular activities may also be considered hazing. Acceptance of the activity on the part of a new member or individual does not excuse sponsorship of the activity.

ILLEGAL USE OR POSSESSION OF CONTROLLED SUBSTANCES
Students may not illegally use, sell, possess, manufacture or distribute any substance prohibited by local, state or federal law. This includes but is not limited to illegal drugs and controlled substances (including marijuana, narcotics, cocaine, heroin, prescription medications, synthetic cannabinoids or other drugs, and chemicals substantially similar to a controlled substance). Students should be aware that it is unlawful to distribute prescription medication to other students for whom the medication was not prescribed.

Use, possession, manufacture or distribution of drug paraphernalia is also prohibited. Please see the full illegal use policy at go.depaul.edu/drugpolicy.
SEXUAL AND RELATIONSHIP VIOLENCE
DePaul University strictly prohibits sexual and relationship violence and threats of sexual and relationship violence, which includes sexual assault, sexual misconduct, dating violence, domestic violence and stalking.

DePaul University is concerned about the safety and well-being of its faculty, staff and students, and about incidents of sexual misconduct, harassment or violence, whether on- or off-campus. If you experience any type of sexual or relationship violence, please know that you have rights, you have options and support is available for you. Read DePaul’s entire institutional policy regarding Sexual and Relationship Violence Prevention and Response at go.depaul.edu/srvresponse.

Any individual who is experiencing any type of sexual and/or relationship violence is encouraged to consult this policy. This document is intended as an overview of various policies, procedures, resources, and supports. Survivors are encouraged to speak directly with DePaul’s director of Gender Equity (Title IX coordinator) or Survivor Support Advocates in DePaul’s Office of Health Promotion and Wellness, or other resources, for more information.

Consent, or lack thereof, is critical to the definition of sexual assault. At DePaul:

- Consent is the unambiguous and voluntary agreement to move forward with a specific sexual request, act or experience.
- Consent cannot be obtained from individuals who are asleep or who have a temporary or permanent mental or physical incapacity, including as a result of drug or alcohol use, or because of age.
- Consent is an affirmative act, not a lack of action.
  - Lack of resistance or submission as the result of force, coercion, duress, or threat thereof does not constitute consent.
  - The absence of “no” or “stop” should never be interpreted as implicit consent, if consent is otherwise unclear.
  - Resistance is not required to demonstrate lack of consent.

STUDENT HANDBOOK
The handbook provides university policies that support both academic and behavioral expectations.

The university reserves the right to change programs, courses and requirements; and to modify, amend or revoke any rules, regulations, policies, procedures or financial schedules at any time during a student’s enrollment period.

In addition to the policies and information included in this handbook, the student’s college or school may have specific guidelines, policies and procedures for which the student is responsible. Students should consult their college section. The handbook also includes sections on general information and university resources.

You can find the handbook at go.depaul.edu/handbooks.
QUESTIONS FACULTY MAY ASK

ABOUT STUDENT BEHAVIOR

What resources are available to faculty if a student is demonstrating disruptive behavior in the classroom?

We all share the responsibility to address student concerns at the earliest and lowest level possible. As soon as you notice or become aware of a behavioral concern (i.e., showing up late, texting during class) speak directly with the student and reiterate expectations for behavior. Be clear with students about your policies and expectations for communication.

Approach the conversation from a caring perspective while describing how their behavior impedes the teaching and learning environment. The Dean of Students Office is available for consultation on student-specific concerns by calling (773) 325-7290. You may also refer the student to the Dean of Students Office directly through go.depaul.edu/dos “report a concern.” The Dean of Students Office may meet with the student and discuss the best resources for the particular situation. The office may also make referrals to other campus departments including University Counseling & Psychological Services (UCAPS) and the Center for Students with Disabilities (CSD). Additional resources for faculty are available on the Dean of Students Office website under “resources.”

The point of first contact (non-emergency) in UCAPS is an initial consultation with a senior staff psychologist. An initial consultation can be scheduled within 1-3 business days and helps a student determine the next best step if psychological counseling is appropriate. Students can walk in to the Loop or Lincoln Park offices or call UCAPS at (773) 325-CARE (2273).

Keep in mind that some students may indicate they are not in need of additional support or resources. On the other hand, they might feel appreciative of your outreach and concern, and your contact with them might be an important step toward managing their needs and concerns.

The Dean of Students Office also provides training for faculty on responding to students in distress and managing student concerns. For more information, please email deanofstudents@depaul.edu.

To learn more about University Counseling and Psychological Services please call (773) 325-CARE (2273) and select option two.

What resources are there for students who have difficulty being academically successful due to a personal, medical or mental health situation?

The Dean of Students Office has academic processes, including an administrative withdrawal process and absence notifications, to assist students who are facing significant personal circumstances that affect their ability to be academically successful. The Dean of Students Office will also provide the student with appropriate campus and community resources.

Visit go.depaul.edu/studentservices for information on counseling, health and wellness, peer support and other resources.

What should I do if a student has significant absences from my class or demonstrates changes in behavior that are noticeable and of concern to me?

It is generally more helpful to comment on a student’s observable behavior and avoid diagnostic labeling. Attempt to:

• Establish a supportive relationship with the student.
• Check-in with them in a direct and empathic manner and see what the student is willing to share. Students who tell you directly that they are emotionally distressed and have been unable to resolve their concerns on their own may be reaching out for help and ready to accept it. In this case, you should feel comfortable referring the student to the Dean of Students Office. Additionally, the Dean of Students Office can confer with faculty on the most appropriate next steps for the student depending on the situation.

The Dean of Students Office is available for consultation on student-specific concerns by calling (773) 325-7290. You may also connect with the Dean of Students Office directly through go.depaul.edu/dos “report a concern.” The Dean of Students Office may ultimately meet with the student and discuss the best resources for the particular situation.
How can I respond to students who may confide in me?
The most appropriate response to students who disclose their personal concerns to you is to:

• Listen.
• Empathize with their feelings and be genuinely supportive.
• Keep your own limits in mind; do not get more involved in the student’s life than is comfortable or appropriate for you (in terms of how long the conversations continue, how frequently personal conversations occur, when and where they take place, and how much is expected of you).

For students who seem to need more than you are able or willing to provide, or if professional counseling seems necessary, refer the student to UCAPS for an initial consultation and individual brief counseling or a referral. Tell the student that these services exist to provide confidential assistance to students managing problems like theirs.

While it is important to respect the student’s privacy, faculty or staff members are not bound by professional standards of confidentiality, as are licensed clinicians. There are times when it is appropriate and necessary to discuss concerns and observations about a troubled student with others who might be helpful. For example, Title IX requires that when an individual who is a “responsible employee” learns of sex discrimination, including harassment or sexual or relationship violence, the responsible employee must promptly report specific information, including the identity of the reporting student, to DePaul’s Title IX coordinator or other appropriate designees. This may be done via an email to the Title IX office, titleixcoordinator@depaul.edu, or through the system used by that office for receiving reports.

With the limited exception of confidential reporting resources listed, all university employees must report to the Title IX Coordinator all details about any sexual harassment and/or misconduct incidents of which they become aware. More information about reporting can be found on the Title IX resource page.

You may also refer to the Dean of Students Office directly through go.depaul.edu/dos “report a concern.”

If a member of the DePaul community has shared information with you related to sexual or relationship violence, please refer to this Step by Step Faculty and Employee Guide.pdf

What is DePaul’s protocol if I feel that a student may be thinking about harming themselves or others?
If there is any question of imminent risk (an emergency situation), or if you become aware of a student who is more than simply distressed and upset but is out of control, violent and/or is suicidal or homicidal, then immediate intervention is needed.

If the situation is an emergency, call 911 and then Public Safety at (773) 325-7777 for the Lincoln Park Campus or (312) 362-8400 for the Loop Campus. If it is a non-life-threatening situation, contact the Dean of Students Monday through Friday from 9am-5pm by calling (773) 325-7290. You can also make a report of the situation to the Dean of Students Office directly through go.depaul.edu/dos “report a concern.”

What should I do if I feel that a student is self-medicating or perhaps overusing their prescribed medication?
Talk about your concerns with the student and focus on observable behavior (laziness, slurred speech, cognitive impairment or other behaviors that interfere with new learning ability and may be suggestive of overusing substances or medications). Remind the student of the resources that are available.

Assessments about use and abuse of medications are very difficult to make, so feel free to call the substance misuse prevention specialist in the office of Health Promotion and Wellness at (773) 325-4550 to consult with a staff member.

ABOUT UNIVERSITY COUNSELING & PSYCHOLOGICAL SERVICES (UCAPS)

What counseling services are available to students?
Full- and part-time, currently registered degree-seeking students enrolled for classes for the quarter are eligible for counseling services.

Faculty and staff can refer students to or students can call UCAPS at (773) 325-CARE (2273) to speak with a 24/7 Mental Health Helpline Counselor (press option 1) or request a Brief Screening and Consultation (BSC) appointment Monday through Friday 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. (select option 2). Counseling services can be delivered via in-person or telemental health on either the Lincoln Park or Loop Campus.

24/7 Mental Health Helpline counselors are also available to consult with faculty and staff regarding students who are in distress. Faculty and staff should call (773) 325-CARE (2273) (press option 1).
What kinds of concerns are addressed by counseling services?
UCAPS strives to help students successfully make important transitions, such as starting college; living away from home for the first time; transferring from another school to DePaul; returning to college after a time away from school; adjusting after a major life event or trauma (e.g., international travel or new cultural experience, parental divorce, illness or death; an assault or accident), and preparing to move from college to the work force.

Clients include a diverse population of students of varying ages and ethnicities, who present with a wide variety of situations and concerns, including:
- Adjustment to college
- Test anxiety
- Self-esteem
- Motivational problems
- Eating concerns
- Relationship issues
- Body image
- Sexual identity
- Family concerns
- Social confidence
- Couple concerns

What about the student who refuses to go to counseling?
Except in certain life-threatening situations, the choice of whether or not to seek professional help is up to the individual. If a troubled student refuses to seek counseling in the absence of risk behaviors, you need to accept the student’s decision. If you are quite concerned about a student, consult with a 24/7 Mental Health Helpline counselor at (773) 325-CARE (2273) option 1. You also may consider consulting the Dean of Students Office. Unlike UCAPS, the Dean of Student's office can call the student in for a wellness check, if indicated.

If a student is having a psychological or psychiatric crisis or emergency please ask the student to go to their nearest emergency room, call 911 or contact DePaul Public Safety in Lincoln Park (773) 325-7777 or the Loop (312) 362-8400.

Faculty can access the faculty functions for students with disabilities by logging into Campus Connect. Once there, click the compass icon on the top, right of the screen, then select ‘Navigator’. Go to Self Service > Faculty Center > Instructor Resources > Students with Disabilities.

Report any database problems to csd@depaul.edu immediately, enabling us to contact the technology department to fix the problem as soon as possible.

How do I facilitate student accommodations, and what kinds of student accommodations are available?
Students are issued a range of accommodations based on their documented disabilities and CSD staff observations in their direct work with students. Students access their accommodations at their discretion during the term and may select just some of them for a faculty member’s particular class.

In fulfilling accommodation needs, CSD staff work collaboratively with faculty, staff and students. Faculty and staff should readily consult with CSD staff to discuss strategies for facilitating accommodations as well as effective instructional strategies with students.

How can I encourage students to discuss their disabilities with me?
Many students with disabilities enter higher education and do not realize there is support for them; others are aware but yearn to achieve without it. Current CSD students may need encouragement to discuss their disabilities with their professors, who are eager to assist.

In efforts to reach these students, CSD seeks the assistance of all faculty. We request that they include a statement in their course syllabi with information about the Center for Students with Disabilities (CSD). You can find the statement at go.depaul.edu/facultycsd.

ABOUT THE CENTER FOR STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES (CSD)

How do I access student information from the Center for Students with Disabilities?
Faculty receive an automatic email alert at the beginning of the term from the CSD system indicating CSD students are in their course(s). Faculty should check their Campus Connect account for a listing of self-disclosed CSD students in their courses and student, classroom and test-taking accommodations.
Faculty instructions for CSD access provide faculty with procedures on how to access student information and exam requests, as well as information they need to provide to CSD. You can find those instructions here.
QUESTIONS STUDENTS MAY ASK

ABOUT ACADEMICS AND STUDYING

Students can learn more about academic support by navigating to the Student Success page at go.depaul.edu/success and go.depaul.edu/studentservices. These services exist to help students make adequate academic progress, or, when they can’t do that because of circumstances out of their control, point them to systems and processes that help them overcome life hurdles.

In this section of the guide, you will find information on the absence notification process, academic advising related to selecting courses and changing majors, career coaching, tutoring and more.

Where can I study on campus if I don’t want to study in my room?
Each of the DePaul libraries has areas designated for studying, research and homework. Students also study in the Student Center, as well as the lobbies outside many college offices and academic buildings. Additionally, DePaul residence halls have spaces for studying. In the spring and fall, students can be found studying outdoors on the Quad or other open areas on campus.

Will my parents get my grades?
Due to privacy laws, DePaul will only list grades on Campus Connect for students to access. Grades are posted on Campus Connect at the end of each term. It is ultimately up to students to share grades with a parent or guardian. Students can learn how to do that here, or visit go.depaul.edu/depaulcentral.

How do I change my schedule?
Students should speak with their academic advisor before changing their schedule to ensure that the courses they are interested in fit within the major they have chosen.

Students use the Drop/Add or Swap Class functions in Campus Connect to change their schedule. There are various deadlines for dropping courses and many are in the first or second week of classes; students should be aware of these deadlines before attempting to drop a course.
